Optional Tours: Ethnic Enclaves - Tour Duration including pick up and drop off 4 Hours

Take a tour to the vibrant ethnic enclaves of Chinatown, Little India and Kampong Gelam. An Examination of Early Urban Settlement in Singapore.

Chinatown- Historically, this area was divided into five sub-areas developed between the 1820s and 1920s, including Telok Ayer and Kreta Ayer. It served as the primary settlement for Chinese immigrants. Soak in the buzz of Chinatown's busy streets or slow down to admire its exquisite temples – no matter your passion, Chinatown is bound to deliver its rich history to its tantalising mix of diverse cultures.

Little India- Walk the streets of Little India, and discover a harmonious blend of age-old tradition, cutting edge architecture and shops selling traditional garments and intricate jewellery. Home to Indian Heritage and Culture. Delve into the rich heritage of Little India, whose main thoroughfare, Serangoon Road, was one of the earliest roads in Singapore.

Trend and Traditions of Kampong Gelam - One of Singapore's oldest urban quarters, this district is filled with fascinating stories from the past. Bugis, for example, was a bustling place of trade and entertainment. From the vibrant street art along Haji Lane to the majestic charm of Sultan Mosque, you will find an interesting blend of Chinese, Malay, Indian and European cultures all in Kampong Gelam, and its surrounding districts such as Bras Basah and Bugis.
